These Are Closing Sales Each Day.

New York, Nov. 10.—To-day's stock market was not materially changed in character from that prevailing since Wednesday morning, except that an opportunity was given to test it when the bank statement made its appearance. Considering the kind of buying that has been zoing on during the latter part of the week and the extent and freasons for some of the advances made, the market came through the test fairly well. The momentary chill which struck the market when the statement first appeared seemed to pass, but a fever fit was on when the market closed and fluctuations were wild and unsettled under the conflicting influences of vigorous pressure by the bears, and eager support by the powerful buildliques, or frantic unloading by weak speculative holders, and nervous covering for a quick turn by shorts. The earlier market showed very mixed conditions, but the eager demand for stocks over-rode all other influences and prevented much effect on prices from the realizing, which was on a very heavy scale. Pacific Mail jumped nearly ten points by half point intervals on the announcement of the entry of the Union Pacific interests into the directory and Union Pacific was also notably affected. The Steel stocks showed wide and exciting fluctuations on a continuance of the heavy speculation in these securities. American Hoop, Tin Plate and other prominent industrials and and Tennessee Coal were most conspicuous and were up three points or over. When the market relapsed these stocks and other prominent industrials and specialties were most affected, losing in some cases between 2 and 3 points, partly recovering before the close. The consternation manifested amongst speculators over the showing of the bank statement was due either to foolish blundering or to reckless mistatement, as yesterday's preliminary figures from the banks themselves clearly indicated a loss in cash, though not as large as the $4,015,200 reported to-day. The extent of this decline will inevitably lead to discussion as to whether cash was withdrawn and hoa

The Cotton Markets.

The Cotton Markets.

NEW YORK COTTON MARKET.

New York, Nov. 10.—The cotton market opened steady, with prices 1 to 4 points lower, the decline being sympathetic, Liverpool having made an unsatisfactory response to our rise of yesterday. Foreign selling helped to check anything in the way of a rally at the opening, but before the close of the first hour the opening loss was supplanted by a slight net rise. Covering and a spurt of investment buying caused the change in the course of the market and eventually intimidated European sellers, Aside from the Liverpool market news of information at hand was of a bullish character. The weather conditions south were unfavorable, low temperature being reported with further frost over large areas. Receipts at the ports fell considerably short of expectations and gave rise to predictions for a further reduction in the moveent as a whole. Spot cotton markets were described as firmer and advancing on urgent demand from spinners and exporters.

The market closed barely steady, with prices net 2 to 3 points lower.
